at 0400 on Friday 15 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy and wet start to the weekend, then fine later.

Today:
Early frost, low cloud and patchy fog will lift through the morning to leave a dry day with some bright or sunny spells. Colder than Thursday, but with light winds. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry at first, though a band of rain soon arrives into west Cornwall and extends east to all areas overnight, giving persistent rainfall. Feeling cold, with winds strengthening. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Saturday:
Overnight rain continues for a time, though clears southeastwards by midday allowing some sunny intervals to develop into the afternoon. A little milder again. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Dry with some sunny spells Sunday and for much of Monday. However, thicker cloud, rain and stronger winds will arrive later Monday afternoon and continue through into Tuesday.
